

Information to keep with you during pregnancy

Ohio State Obstetrics and Gynecology McCampbell Outpatient Care	614-293-8045 Monday-Friday 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m.
Labor & Delivery	614-293-8497 24 hours a day, every day
Breastfeeding Help Line	614-293-8910
Hospital Operator	614-293-8000
Maternity Tour and Prenatal Classes	go.osu.edu/pregnancy-education

When to seek medical attention

Call the office or Labor and Delivery if you have:

- Headache that won't go away or gets worse over time
- Changes in your vision
- Chest pain or fast-beating heart (for more than 10 minutes)
- Baby's movements stopping or slowing
- Swelling, redness, and pain in your leg
- Fainting
- Chills, fever, or constant vomiting and diarrhea
- Severe belly pain that doesn't go away
- Vaginal bleeding or leaking fluid
- Extreme swelling of your hands or face
- Frequent tightening or balling up of your uterus or womb
- Trouble breathing
- Anything else that feels wrong

Be ready to tell the nurse or doctor:

- What problem you're having
- When the problem started
- When your baby is due to be born

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY
WEXNER MEDICAL CENTER